INTRODUCTORY.

WE present to the public the Thirty-Second Volume of the New Haven Directory in an enlarged and improved form. The rapid growth of the city has made this course imperative. We have now become a city of more than 50,000 inhabitants, the first in point of population and wealth of the cities of our State, the third in population of the cities of New England, and the twenty-fifth of the cities of the United States. It will be in the future, as it has been in the past, the object of the publisher to make the NEW HAVEN DIRECTORY equal, if not superior, to the best Directories of other cities.

The history of New Haven, its growth, business, and many peculiar advantages, is ably presented in an article prepared by a gentleman of high literary attainments, and furnishes complete information upon the subjects of which he treats. [See page 27.] The perusal will undoubtedly prove of great interest to all classes.

In addition to the usual large amount of miscellaneous matter, we devote considerable space to important statistical information gathered from the last general census, also useful extracts from the City By-Laws, new arrangement of Societies, etc., thereby adding greatly to the value and interest of this department.

We call the particular attention of our patrons to the new Street Directory. As now presented it gives the names of the different streets crossing each of the streets and avenues, with the right hand corners numbered in proper order, so that any particular number wanted can be definitely located within the limits of a block.

It was our intention to present this year a New Map of the city. Last Fall we had the necessary surveys made, the maps drawn and placed in the hands of the engravers, from whom a proof was received. About this time the limits of the city were extended, so as to embrace Fair Haven. This addition necessitated the changing of names to many of the streets to obviate the difficulty arising from duplicate names. The changes, in fact, were so many, that in consultation with our worthy Mayor, the idea of issuing a new map with the present volume was reluctantly abandoned. In our next issue we hope to present such a map as will be sure to give general satisfaction.

It may not be generally known, and we therefore state the fact, that the New Haven Directory has probably a larger circulation throughout the country than any other Directory, if we except a few of our larger cities. This fact affords unusual advantages to those who wish to make their business extensively known abroad. The influence that the book has abroad, in giving New Haven a prominent position among our cities and bringing its business before the eyes of thousands, is not, we think, sufficiently estimated by our merchants and manufacturers. Last year we introduced a system of exchanges among Directory publishers which met with general approval. We received, in partial return for those sent by us, the Directories of some forty principal cities. These have been on our office shelves and freely offered for the use of our citizens generally, proving of great value for reference and a convenience not otherwise to be obtained in the State.

There has been added to our list of residents in the city five thousand four hundred and forty-nine new names, while the erasures have only been two thousand three hundred and seventy-three, making an increase in the number of new names contained in the Directory of three thousand and seventy-six. This would indicate that our city was never more rapidly progressing in population than at the present time. The changes of residences during the year have been three thousand one hundred and forty-nine, which includes all the changes made whether as owners of property occupied, or as tenants or boarders. The total number of names given in the Directory is over seventeen thousand, with the occupation of most of them indicated. It is not surprising, therefore, that our Directory should assume, as it does, the proportions of the directories of our larger cities.

We wish to express our grateful acknowledgments to the manufacturers, for the kind aid they have afforded us in furnishing complete lists of the employees of their various establishments; and to one and all, and especially to those in official positions, who have assisted us, we return our hearty thanks.

Owing to the complete change of style of printing our Directory, the additions of the 7th Ward to the city, and to other causes, we are unavoidably later in our present issue than usual. It will be our aim in the future to issue the book at an earlier date. If societies and corporations and especially our City officials will bear this in mind, and furnish us any information which will be of general interest, we shall be under obligations to them, and they will also render to the public a great favor.

NEW HAVEN, JULY 1, 1871.

J. H. B.

The following facts concerning the material prosperity of our city during the past year, were gathered for us by a gentleman who has made this subject a matter of special attention:

In the year that has passed since the last Directory was issued, New Haven has taken many strides forward. The census report shows New Haven's population to be 50,886. Ten years ago it was 39,277, showing a gain of over 11,000 in that period. Thirty years ago the population was 14,390. The figures speak for themselves.

During these twelve months, four churches have been erected, the Church of the Redeemer, (Congregational,) on Orange street; the Baptist Church, on Chapel street, cor. of York; Grace Church, (Episcopal,) on Blatchley Av.,

7th Ward, and the Wesley Chapel on Davenport Avenue. Three more are in process of erection, Dwight Place Church, corner Chapel and Dwight streets, which is the church of the Howe Street (Congregational) Society; the Methodist Church on Pearl street, 7th Ward, and St. Mary's Church, on Hillhouse Avenue. The German Lutherans have located a church in the old Brintnall house, on Wooster street, corner of Brewery, which they purchased at a cost of $11,000.

The Church of the Redeemer is a beautiful structure, and cost about $125,000. For Dwight Place Church a building fund of $55,000 was raised last December. It will be a handsome structure. The new Baptist Church is nearly completed. It will cost about $90,000. Grace Church, on Blatchley Avenue, is unique and attractive. It is of the early Grecian style of architecture, and will cost $25,000. The new Methodist Church, 7th Ward, will be completed about next Spring. It will be an edifice highly creditable in appearance. Wesley Chapel, on Davenport Avenue, is an attractive house of worship.

A new Congregational Society has been formed in Newhallville, and St. Patrick's Church (Catholic,) has purchased a handsome abode for its Sisters of Mercy, on Franklin street, near State.

The Center Church has erected a fine home for aged women, on Wall street at a cost of $23,000.

Yale College has made decided steps forward. Farnam Hall, which stands on the original College grounds, near College street, corner of Elm, is completed and occupied by the students; and Durfee Hall, which stands parallel with Elm street, also on the original College grounds, is completed externally. Both structures are an honor to the College, and in keeping with its name and fame. The new Theological Seminary of Yale is occupied; a class has graduated within its imposing walls, and an elegant Chapel is now being built on Elm street, contiguous to it, through the munificence of Frederick Marquand, of Southport. It will be completed in the fall. The Seminary has now a reference library, the gift of Henry Trowbridge, of this city, costing $4000.

Yale has added to its able corps of professors the Rev. Samuel Harris, D. D., late President of Bowdoin College, who has accepted a call to the Dwight Professorship of Didactic Theology in the Divinity School. Rev. Dr. Bacon has been appointed to and accepted the Department of Church Polity and American Church History. Henry Ward Beecher has been added to the list of talent, he having accepted an appointment to the Lyman Beecher lectureship on Preaching, endowed in the sum of $10,000 by Henry W. Sage, of Brooklyn, New York.

It has just been decided to erect a new Court House on Church street, next to the elegant City Hall, and the lot has been purchased at a cost of $45,000. It will contain all the modern conveniences of Court buildings and will cost over $100,000.

A new High School is projected to be built on Orange street, in place of the present Lancasterian School structure, and $100,000 has been voted for its erection by a City School District meeting. It will be one of the finest High School buildings in the country, both in exterior and internal arrangements.

A new primary school building, upon a unique, attractive and excellent pattern, has been erected on Edwards street, at a cost of $14,000, and a similar one is now erecting in Oak street, corner of Greenwood. Ground for a new school building has also been purchased in Newhallville. The excellent Graded School of Westville, which cost $20,000, was dedicated last fall. It is an honor to its inhabitants.

A new engine house has been built in the 7th Ward (Fair Haven,) of the most improved style, and a new steamer, named the John H. Leeds, has been bought and placed in it. Fair Haven now, for the first time, has a fire steamer.

The railroad from New Haven to Derby, about 13 miles in length, is completed and trains have commenced to run over it. This will increase New Haven's prosperity materially.

On the Air Line road trains are running to Middletown, and vigorous efforts are being made to secure the completion of the road to Willimantic, which done, it will form part of an air line to Boston.

A new mammoth Depot is projected to be built in the south-western part of the city, a structure which will compare favorably with any of similar character in New England.

The State Street Horse Railroad has been built the past year, and is in successful operation. This road connects Cedar Hill, a growing locality, and the central portion of the city, and runs through a thickly settled and prosperous part of the city. Application has been made for permission to extend the road up Elm and Church streets to Chapel.

A new street has been cut through from Orange to Church, (called Center,) parallel to, and but a few hundred feet from Chapel, through the liberality and public spirit of Henry White. It is a decided improvement.

George Hoadley's splendid, new building, iron front, corner of Church and Crown streets, has been completed, a structure vying with those of the metropolis. In it is located the new firm, to New Haven, of Lumb & Roddick, wholesale and retail dry goods dealers, whose store and stock remind us also of metropolitan emporiums.

Edward Malley has completed, and has his immense dry goods business in his new establishment on Chapel street, corner of Temple. It is a mammoth store and the center of an immense trade. On the opposite corner, formerly known as the "Street Place," Mr. Malley has erected a commodious brick building, the lower portion to be used for stores.

Wm. A. Clark, of Woodbridge, is erecting a three story brick establishment in Westville, for the manufacture of extension bits, hollow augurs, and similar goods. The Swift & Courtney & Beecher Company, Westville, have made a large extension of their Parlor Match works. This firm have factories in Westville, Wilmington, Del., and Chicago. The Yale Iron Works, (formerly the M. & T. Sault Co.,) have extended their premises. This establishment has gained a high reputation in the United States and Canadas.

The New Haven Pipe Works have large new shops on Nash street, in the northern part of the city, and at their old works, on State street, the now famous Frear stone is being manufactured.

H. H. Snow has built a large structure in which he now manufactures his famous confectionery.

Laundry and Dye Works buildings are now being erected, near Neck Bridge, for Forsyth & Fisher, by Atwater Brothers.

Atwater Block, a large structure of brick, has been erected at the junction of Grand and St. John streets, costing $25,000, and is now filled with stores and workshops.

Elegant private residences and blocks of residences have been erected, among which are Henry Farnam's, on Hillhouse Avenue; Ex-Mayor Fitch's on Church street, opposite the Public Square; one by Edward Downes on Whalley Avenue; James M. Evarts on the same Avenue; two by Nelson C. Newgeon, on Punderson street, near Whalley Avenue, and one on Maple st.; one by S. B. Jerome on Orchard street, near Chapel; one by Richard F. Lyon on Chapel street, near Edward Malley's; L. A. Russell's on Whalley Avenue, near Orchard street, and one by W. A. Lincoln on same Avenue; a fine block by the Messrs. Atwater on Trumbull st.: W. J. Atwater has transformed the late residence of C. B. Lines, on Trumbull st., into a fine dwelling. N. C. Newgeon and others have erected an elegant stone front block on Chapel st. opposite Wooster Square; Mr. Newgeon has also erected a very fine block on College street, and Dr. Ward's new block on the same street, near Crown, and A. Holt has erected a fine block of stone-front houses on Crown street, which adds much to the improvement in that locality. Edward A. Mitchell, manufacturer, has erected a beautiful mansion near the East Haven shore of the harbor, not far from the elegant residence of James M. Townsend, and B. Shoninger, the melodeon, organ and piano manufacturer, has completed a neat country seat in West Haven, on the sea shore. Jacob Heller is erecting a large block to be occupied as stores and tenements, on State street, near Wall; P. McKenna has built a large block on State street, corner of Franklin; L. H. Freedman, a block on Grand street, near Jefferson; the fine Collins Block, on Chapel street below Union has been recently erected, and in all other parts of the city new improvements of similar character are manifest.

Great additions have been made to our large manufacturing interests. The Winchester Armory buildings, immense structures, have been erected in the past year in Newhallville, at which three hundred operatives find employment, and where the Winchester Rifle is manufactured—an arm renowned in this country and in Europe.

A new Rolling Mill, for the manufacture of bar iron, has been erected in the 7th Ward, not far from the shore of Mill River, which will give employment to a large number of persons. It is a decided addition to the manufacturing interests of the city. It is just commencing active operations. The transfer of the New Haven Wire Works, to the premises or a portion of them, on the East Haven side, (Quinnipiac River,) lately occupied by the Chemical Works, is soon to be accomplished. The Company propose to get additional room by building upon the land.

The hive of manufactories on Whitney Avenue has been enlarged by the erection of more large factory buildings.

The great clock works have enlarged their premises.

In all directions New Haven is extending. New dwellings are being erected and real estate is advancing. A thorough system of sewerage is under contemplation, by the direction of Mayor Lewis, assisted by that expert in sewerage, Mr. Chesebrough, of Chicago, and other city improvements are being projected.

An important feature, during the last publication year, is the annexation of Fair Haven, (now called the Seventh Ward,) to New Haven, embodying a portion of the city proper, and being represented in the city government. A consolidation of its School District with that of the city will, ere long be made.

We have alluded but briefly to the many improvements made in our beautiful and prosperous city, since our last issue. Suffice it to say, (and we feel a sense of pride in saying,) that New Haven, to-day, will vie with any other city of its size and population in the Union.

NEW HAVEN.

ITS EARLY HISTORY.

The history of New Haven dates back to the earliest colonial records of the State. In the fall of 1637, Mr. Theophilus Eaton, afterwards Governor of the ancient Colony of New Haven, in company with others recently arrived with him from England, made a journey from Boston to Connecticut, with a view to exploring the lands and harbors along the Sound, and arriving at this place, which was then called Quinnipiac, and determining on a settlement here, erected a log hut on what is now the corner of Church and George streets, in which a portion of their party spent the winter. Mr. Eaton, having returned to Boston for the purpose of hastening forward his company of emigrants from England, set sail for Quinnipiac on the 30th of March, 1638, and landed at this port in about a fortnight from that time. The Rev. John Davenport, a prominent clergyman from London, accompanied the settlers, and on their first Sabbath in New Haven, the 15th of April of that year, he preached a discourse from Matthew, IV. i., under a large oak tree growing at that time near the corner of George and College streets. The first buildings erected were situated along the line of George street and on the more elevated grounds opposite, or across the small creek which then ran between George and Oak streets, and which at that time was large enough to admit of small vessels passing up it for some distance.

Among the first acts of the settlers, or planters, as they called themselves, was to form a perpetual league of friendship with the Indians, and peaceably obtain from them such grants of land as might be needful for the colony. A treaty was accordingly made with Momanguin, the sole sachem of Quinnipiac, by which that chief ceded all his right, title and interest in and to all the land, rivers, ponds and trees belonging to him, with all the liberties and appurtenances, unto Theophilus Eaton, John Davenport and others, their heirs and assignees forever, they covenanting and agreeing, on their part, to protect him and his people from other Indian tribes, and always allow him a sufficient tract of land to plant on and occupy, on the east side of the harbor, and between that and Saybrook. The sum given by way of "free and thankful retribution" for this splendid cession by the old sachem, was twelve coats of English cloth, as many spoons, hatchets and hoes, two dozen knives, a dozen porringers and four cases of knives and scissors. This purchase was made in November, 1638, and in December they purchased another tract of land of Montowese, lying principally to the north of the Quinnipiac tract, and extending ten miles north, and thirteen miles east and west. For this tract, which embraced for the most part all the old towns of New Haven, Branford and Wallingford, and nearly the whole of East Haven, Woodbridge, Cheshire, Hamden and North Haven, the purchasers paid thirteen coats and allowed the Indians sufficient ground to plant, and the liberty to hunt within the limits of the land conveyed.

In the summer of 1639, the following persons constituted all the freemen of the Court of New Haven, the list being in the handwriting of Thomas Fugill, one of the first principal settlers :

The proceedings of the Planters' Assembly, held on the 4th day of June, 1639, when they met in Mr. Newman's barn "to consult about settling civil government according to God," are in the hand writing of the same Thomas Fugill, although Mr. Robert Newman was selected to act as the scribe of the meeting. Among the fundamental principles of government laid down and acted upon by this meeting, was the declaration that "the scriptures do hold forth a perfect rule for the direction and government of all men in all duties which they are to perform to God and man, as well as in the government of families and commonwealths, as in matters of the church."

At this general meeting there was a "fundamental agreement" made and entered into, by which all the free planters of the town were to abide and be permanently governed thereafter. It was stipulated and agreed, that church members only should be free burgesses; that they alone should choose from among themselves magistrates and officers to transact public business, or the "public civil affairs of the plantation;" that they should make and repeal laws, divide inheritances, decide all differences that might arise, and "generally do all things and businesses of a like nature." It was further ordered by the said free planters, that all those who should thereafter be received as planters into the plantation, should submit to the "said fundamental agreement," and testify the same by subscribing their names under the names of the "aforesaid planters." The number of names subscribed to this "fundamental agreement" was one hundred and eleven, many of them being in autographic signature.

Among the first acts of the planters was that of framing and administering a "freeman's charge," which was the origin of the "Freeman's Oath," as now administered in this State; and, it is not a little remarkable that one of the most striking features of this oath is derived, almost word for word, from this old Freeman's charge, still preserved, in the handwriting of Mr. Francis Newman, one of the original freemen of the "Courte of New Haven." The clause to which we refer is this: "And when you shall be duly called to give your vote or suffrage in any election, or touching any other matter which concerneth this commonwealth, you shall give it as in your conscience you shall judge may conduce to the best good of the same."

The persons appointed as the officers to lay the foundation work of the church or civil government according to God, were Mr. Theophilus Eaton, Mr. John Davenport, Mr. Robert Newman, Mr. Matthew Gilbert, Mr. Richard Malbon, Mr. Nathaniel Turner, Ezekiel Chevers, Thomas Fugill. John Punderson, William Andrews and Jeremiah Dixon.

On the 25th of October following, a meeting of the Court was held, there being only seven of the magistrates, or "foundation of the church," as they were called, present, when, "after solemn prayer unto God," the civil magistracy proceeded to revolutionize or undo the action of the 4th of June by declaring as follows:

"First: All former power of trust for managing any public affairs in this, plantation, into whose hands soever formerly committed, is now abrogated and from henceforward utterly to cease."

Eight more persons were thereupon admitted to the Court, when they proceeded to elect a magistrate and four deputies to assist in the management of public affairs. The Rev. Mr. Davenport having first opened the scriptures and read from Deut. i., 13, and Exod. xviii, 21, wherein a magistrate according to God's mind is described, Mr. Theophilus Eaton having been found "fitly qualified for that office according to description," as read from the two Bible texts, was, by full consent, chosen magistrate, and Mr. Robert Newman, Mr. Matthew Gilbert, Mr. Nathaniel Turner and Mr. Thomas Fugill, were chosen deputies, the duties of the latter being to assist the magistrate in all Courts called by him to consider the affairs of the plantation, for the term of one year. Thomas Fugill was chosen the public notary to attend the Court, from time to time, and keep a faithful record of all the business transactions of the same. Robert Seeley was selected as Marshal, whose duty it was to warn the Court according to the direction of the magistrate, to serve and execute warrants, to attend the court when in session, and be ready to execute in person, or by his deputy, the proper sentences and orders of the Court.

It was further provided, That there should be an annual choice of all officers of the plantation at the General Court held the first week in October, and that "the Word of God should be the only rule to be attended unto in ordering the affairs of government in this plantation." The meetings of this General Court were held from time to time, as the exigencies of the people required, both for the annual choice of officers and the transaction of other business, until the 27th day of October, 1643, when the Colony plantations of New Haven, Milford, Guilford and Stamford, were confederated under a general jurisdiction, and Theophilus Eaton was chosen Governor and Stephen Goodyear Deputy Governor of the Colony. Both of these gentlemen, as will be seen, belonged to the New Haven plantation, and were among the wealthiest of those settling here at the time.

NEW HAVEN IN THE CONFEDERATION OF THE NEW ENGLAND COLONIES.

Immediately connected with the history of New Haven and its plantation colony, were the steps taken for the formation of a general confederation of all the New England colonies, which took place in 1643, the New Haven colony subscribing to the articles of confederation on the 19th day of May, of that year. These articles are entitled, "Articles of Confederation betwixt the plantations under the government of the Massachusetts, the plantations under the government of the Plymouth, the plantations under the government of the Connecticut, and the government of the New Haven, with the plantations in combination therewith." The style of the confederation agreed and concluded upon, was The United Colonies of New England, under which title they were to be known and treated as one, according to the tenor and meaning of the articles subscribed to by them. By virtue of these articles they entered into a "firm and perpetual league of friendship and amity, for offence and defence, mutual advice and succor, upon all just occasions, both for preserving and propagating the truth and liberties of the Gospel, and for their own mutual safety and welfare." Each of the colonies was to retain its own separate jurisdiction in all respects peculiar to itself, and manage its own internal affairs, and no two of the confederate jurisdictions were to unite or join in one jurisdiction without the consent of the rest. It was expressly stipulated and covenanted in these Articles of Confederation, that in all matters reserved to the colonies separately, there should be no intermeddling by the confederation, but that the jurisdiction of all such matters should be reserved entirely to themselves. For the proper management and government of the affairs of this confederation, each of the four jurisdictions were to choose two commissioners with "full power from their several General Courts respectively, to hear; examine, weigh, and determine all affairs of war or peace, leagues, aids, and numbers of men for war, division of spoils, or whatsoever is gotten by conquest, * * * and all things of a like nature, which are the proper concomitants or consequences of such a confederation, for amity, offence and defence, not intermeddling with the government of any of the jurisdictions, which by the third article, is preserved entirely to themselves." It will be noticed how early this principle of independent local self-government was struck out by the colonies, in their fundamental agreements, and how cautiously it was guarded in this first constitutional compact entered into by the Colonies of New England.

These eight commissioners, or any six of them, were clothed with power to choose a President of the United Colonies; and the first meeting after that of concluding and ratifying the articles of confederation, was to be held in Boston, the second in Hartford, the third at Plymouth, and the fourth in New Haven; and so in course successively, unless, in the meantime, some more convenient place should be found out and agreed on for the accomodation of all the jurisdictions. Among the more remarkable features of this fundamental compact or inter-colonial agreement, is one that provides "that if any servant runs away from his master into any other of these confederate jurisdictions, that in such case, upon the certificate of one magistrate in the jurisdiction, out of which the said servant fled, or upon other due proof, the said servant shall be delivered either to his master, or any other that pursues, and brings such certificate or proof." This provision of 1643 related, of course, to white servants, bound to service or labor; but on the introduction of colored servants into the colonies, they came under the provisions of the compact and were delivered on the certificate of a single magistrate, without any question or even thought of moral turpitude entering into the act of rendition. This fact is interesting only as a historical feature of our institutions, taking their early rise and complexion in the New England Colonies. The political student of history will find these articles of compact and confederation of no small interest, and will be forcibly struck by their provisions in very many particulars, especially in the one striking feature that guards the separate plantations from all interference or "intermeddling," as named in the compact, by one jurisdiction with another. Another singularly striking feature of the compact is its guarded exclusion of all reference to the authority of the British Crown, and the recognition therein of their right to form a united government, or nation, for their own mutual safety and welfare. It shows how deeply imbued were the first settlers in New England with the spirit of liberty; how they had drank in the doctrines of Milton and Bacon, and were prepared for the lessons of Sidney, Fairfax, and Hampden. The royal tragedy of 1648 was near at hand, when Charles was brought to the block by the very men whom he had forcibly prevented from emigrating to America. The puritanical fever raged even with greater heat in the colonies than where the foundations of royalty were toppling to their bloody overthrow in the mother country; and the English throne was too pitiable an object, if not too odious a one, to be named in a compact of union, springing from the free doctrines of the pilgrim fathers. The elements were at work which were silently, but effectually to demolish the time-honored institutions of royalty in this country, or so undermine them that the first breath of a universal popular disfavor would send them with a crash to the earth. Driven by religious persecutions into the boundless solitudes of a new country, their situation was every way favorable to the growth of those germs of liberty which were planted by kindly hands in the fatherland. Religious toleration, and the sacred rights of conscience, demanded by Coddington, Williams, Lord Baltimore, and Penn, were taking seed in the doctrines of political equality, everywhere springing up under the untrammelled freedom of nature here enjoyed. Regal pomp, the sunny pageantry of courts, and the glitter and show of rank and title, were giving way before the ascendancy of principle, especially that long struggling one which was finally to take its place in the center of the American system, dispensing life and warmth wherever its influence should reach. This principle was the sovereignty of the people at large, as contradistinguished from the sovereignty of some favored family or class in particular. In the first written constitution of America, a hundred and thirty-three years before the Revolution, the pilgrim fathers gave efficacy to this principle, and virtually recognized it, as the source of legal obedience.

THE COLONY PLANTATION.

Under the Colony Plantation were established not only plantation courts and courts of magistrates, but a general court for the whole jurisdiction. The general court was to consist of the Governor, Deputy Governor, and all the magistrates of the confederated jurisdiction, including deputies chosen from time to time, against the approach of the general court, by the free burgesses of the several plantations. All the magistrates of the jurisdiction were required to meet twice a year at New Haven, where the sittings of the General Court were held. This system of government continued, with an annual choice of officers, until the year 1665, when the colony of New Haven was united with that of Connecticut, on a more liberal basis of government than had before been enjoyed by the inhabitants of the New Haven Colony. The united colony was divided into four counties, and the first county court was established in New Haven, in October, 1665. The laws of the New Haven colony were set aside, and those of the Connecticut colony accepted in their stead. This liberal change called forth some opposition from the Rev. Mr. Davenport and members of his congregation, who strenuously advocated the exclusive right of church members to the privileges of freemen. But this exclusiveness was manifestly distasteful to a majority of the people of the two colonies at the time, for it was agreed on the part of the New Haven Colony that they would bury their laws "in perpetual oblivion, never to be called to account" thereafter. This union was unquestionably advantageous to both colonies, contributing largely to their strength, peace, prosperity, and security from the Indian tribes, as well as against border encroachments. It enlarged the area of political freedom, as, by the laws of the Connecticut Colony, all orderly persons, possessing a freehold to a certain amount, might be made freemen, and share in the duties and responsibilities of government. At the first session of the General Assembly, held in Hartford, in April, 1665, Mr. John Cooper and James Bishop were the deputies chosen from New Haven.

THE CITY OF NEW HAVEN.

The City of New Haven, or the settled portion of the town, was originally laid out in a plat half a mile square, which area was divided into nine other squares by streets or highways running at right angles between them. The oldest map now extant of the city, as thus laid out, was drawn by Mr. Joseph T. Brown in the year 1724. These nine original squares are represented upon this map without any subdivision by streets into smaller squares, such as were subsequently made, and the whole was inclosed by State, George, York and Grove streets, and subdivided by Chapel, Elm, College and Church streets. The entire number of buildings represented on the map, independently of a single college edifice and the church and school house on the center square, did not exceed one hundred and sixty. Among the prominent New Haven families whose names are indicated on this map, are to be found, English, Trowbridge, Bradley, Atwater, Thompson, Tuttle, Brown, Mansfield, Sherman, Talmadge, White, Beecher, Dawson, Munson, Gorham, Thomas, Todd, Jones, Collins, Nott, and some others, the Bradley family being numerically in the ascendant. All east of the line of where the railroad now runs, except a portion of Union street, is represented on the map as an open field, and with the exception of a few residences in the lower part of Union street, between Chapel and the water, and eleven or twelve dwelling houses along the line of the harbor on East Water street, there were no other residences east of State street. Fleet street then led down to what is indicated as "a little wharf" on the map; running out from the corner of State and Grove streets, was "Neck Lane"; Elm street to the east of State was terminated by "Paine's Gate," leading into the open field; Chapel and George streets were each terminated at the same point by a bridge over a marsh; from the corner of Church and Grove, ran "Mill Lane" to the north; the only avenue leading out of the city to the west, was a continuation of Elm street towards Westville; "West Lane," so called, branched off from near the corner of College and George streets, running in a westerly direction; Meadow street ran down to the flats, and boasted seven residences, two of which were occupied by the Trowbridges, and all beyond this was embraced in the nine squares into which the settled portion of the town was divided, with the exception of a few residences opposite on the rising ground from George street, and others along the line of "West Lane." These nine squares have since been subdivided by High, Temple and Orange streets, running northerly and southerly, and by Crown, Court and Wall streets running easterly and westerly, with here and there a lane to break the monotony of the general division.

In 1748, Gen. Wadsworth, of Durham, drew a map of the town on a larger scale than the one we have described, giving the location and names of the families resident in the place, and adding their several pursuits, occupations and professions. The list of residents had very considerably increased during the twenty-four years that had intervened, and, what is not a little remarkable, there are but few names which are not more or less prominently represented by lineal descent or otherwise, at the present time. Among these additional names are Austin, Allen and Alling, Andrews, Bishop, Blakeslee, Ball, Crawford, Chatterton, Chidsey, Cook, Cooper, Curtiss, Dickerman, Day, Darling, Doolittle, Elliott, Ford, Greenough, Hotchkiss, Howell, Hubbard, Hitchcock, Holt, Hall, Ingersoll, Johnson, Kimberly, Lyon, Mix, Miles, Nevins, Noyes, Osborn, Potter, Punderson, Parmalee, Pront, Peck, Perkins, Pierpont, Rowe, Russell, Sabin, Sackett, Scott, Smith Thomas, Townsend, Thorp, Wilmot, Wooster, Whitney, and others.

New Haven continued to increase in population and wealth, opening, at a very early day in her history, a small but successful trade with Barbadoes and the West India Islands, which has been continued to our own time, adding largely to our material prosperity as a city, and the commercial character and influence of our people. As the second seat of learning in New England, in point of collegiate foundation, our city acquired no small importance in its early history, and reaped many advantages that would not otherwise have accrued to it. As we shall speak of this institution under another head, and of the churches and schools of the city; in their proper place, we shall pass rapidly on with the history of the city proper to the time its first charter was granted in 1784, when its population had reached something under four thousand. Of its historical incidents, many of which are as noteworthy as they were thrilling in revolutionary interest at the time, and of the many distinguished names it has added to those of American note, it is not our purpose here to speak, except as incidentally connected with the subjects of which a work of this kind may more properly treat.

The first city charter was granted in 1784, and six years later, in 1790, when the first general census of the United States was taken, its population had reached 4,448. This was about as 1 to 54 of the entire population of the State at that time, and the following table, showing the relative population of the city and State, in the several decades of its history from 1790 to 1870, will show how rapidly and steadily that ratio has increased, until the city now comprises nearly one-tenth of the entire population of the State.

THE MANUFACTURING, COMMERCIAL, AND BUSINESS GROWTH OF NEW HAVEN.

In giving the progress of our city in its manufacturing, commercial, and general business interests, we would call attention to the fact, that the permanent elements of its prosperity lie in the industrial energies of its people, and that these have been augmented, or stimulated into activity, by the facilities which capital has extended to labor in the last thirty years of our history. To show how entirely true is this statement, we call the attention of the reader to the

We have carefully prepared the foregoing table, exhibiting the grand list of New Haven from 1836 to 1870, in order that the reader may see at a glance the progress our city has made, in its commercial and manufacturing interests, in the last three or four decades of its history. Figures are invaluable symbols in this respect, and often present a volume of history in a small compass and in a remarkably concise and epigrammatic form. The leap that a city may make in material advancement in a single year, is, as compared with other periods of its growth, an extended chapter of history, teeming with philosophic suggestion and invaluable truth. In glancing down the column of these figures, they tell the story of our material growth and prosperity, and exhibit the true secret of our activities, as indubitably as if they were extended into volumes of speciality and detail. And it is to the enterprising young men of New Haven—those who are now actively entering upon promising business careers in the city—that we commend their study, and briefly note what is actually indicated by them.

It will be seen that for the whole decade preceding 1846, our city remained almost entirely stationary in its material growth. It seemed to have reached a point beyond which advancement was slow, and of difficult attainment. From that time up to 1848-9, our material interests seemed to feel, for the first time in many decades, a new thrill of excitement, and an electric influence ran through our streets and along the avenues of business and trade, which gave an unexampled impetus to all the activities which diversified labor and ingenuity demand. That wonderful Titan, Steam, with more than Briarean arms, appears for the first time in our history, upon the iron tramways leading to and from our city, and his appearance at once stimulates the workshops and marts of trade, imparting greater and more multifarious forms of value to industry and labor, and increasing the aggregate wealth of the city beyond what the most fertile mind could have guessed as among the possibilities of so immediate a future as was then pressing upon us. It will be seen by referring to the figures as tabulated above, that the grand list of the city, representing the aggregate wealth of our people or its accumulated industries, begins, from about 1848-9, to leap up by millions annually, until, within the two decades that follow, it has increased nearly nine fold over the almost stationary decades preceding the introduction of steam and the iron rail as agents of locomotion. In 1841 our grand list hardly exceeded five millions of dollars, with scarcely a perceptible advancement over 1831, while, in 1851, it is nearly three-fold greater than in 1841, and in 1871 amounts to over forty-six and a half millions, with a corresponding increase in population, which always bears its proper relation to the aggregate wealth of a given locality. The Protean wand of industry which has been waved over our city by the hand of Art, is clearly indicated by the figures in this table; and yet, strange enough to say, we have those in our city who still persist that railroads do not bring trade to our doors, but only divert it to other and more favored localities! How much greater might have been the growth of our city had a wiser and more far-reaching policy been pursued by our people in favoring the projects of past years, for making New Haven, the pivotal point in the State of all these grand enterprises! Where we have spent hundreds in the construction of railroads, we have got back thousands, and where we have spent thousands we have had a return of millions. The New York and New Haven road, the Hartford and Springfield, the Northampton, the Shore Line, the Middletown and Willimantic, and even the unfortunate Derby, are all so many great feeding arteries to the vital system of labor and trade among us, and are annually bringing to us an aggregate of wealth and industrial energy, more than sufficient to meet all the liabilities we have incurred or are likely to incur, in forwarding these important public enterprises. To withhold such facilities as these from the labor and industry of a people, is to stifle their growth in material prosperity, while to extend them is to quicken their energies into new life and activity, and thereby impart the greatest blessings that can accrue to civilized society.

The manufacturing interests of New Haven commenced their first marked advancement, or rapid upward movement, about the year 1848. It was during that year that the New York and New Haven railroad was completed, and commenced to run its cars for the transportation of passengers and freight. The Canal road was opened the same year, and operated its cars as far as Plainville. The Hartford road had been running from 1840-41, but it brought no trade from that city, and, for reasons that were apparent, gave but little stimulus either to our local industry or commercial trade. Although originally a New Haven enterprise, it soon passed into the hands of the capitalists of our rival city, and was afterwards run in the interests of that place rather than New Haven. In 1850, the Canal road was completed to Collinsville, and two years after, the Shore Line road was in operation between here and New London. About the same time an effort was made to bring the Naugatuck Valley road to New Haven, but the memories of the old Farmington Canal were too fresh in the minds of the heavier capitalists and property holders of the city, to induce them to invest even the small pittance then asked for the ample returns which this important road most indubitably promised. The amount asked was considerably less than one hundred thousand dollars, and yet, that road, by terminating in Bridgeport, has added to the wealth of that city more than fifty times the sum asked of us in consideration of its termination here. The subscription by the city of $100,000, in 1829, to the Farmington Canal Company, was the most unfortunate one in its effect ever made by an incorporated city. Had ten or even twenty times that amount been pilfered from the city treasury, destroyed by fire, sunk in the sound, or squandered on a mere Utopian enterprise, it would not have been half the detriment to the city that this unfortunate investment has proved in effect to be. The New Haven and Northampton Company succeeded, however, the old Farmington Company, and their fine railroad, in part the result of the old city subscription of 1829, is now annually pouring into the lap of New Haven, ten times the value of that subscription in interest to the city.

It is true that, prior to 1848, the business of manufacturing carriages had been somewhat extensively carried on in New Haven, but the grand list shows that the great impetus which this and other branches of manufacture received, commenced about that time. As early as 1832, the late Mr. James Brewster built a large brick carriage manufactory, at the foot of Wooster street, where he prosecuted the business on a very considerable scale. Other parties were engaged in the same business, so that as early as 1836 our city began to acquire, especially throughout the southern and western states, a reputation for manufacturing very superior carriages. But the amount of capital then invested in this branch of business was comparatively small, and, with a single other branch of industry, constituted the main manufacturing interest of New Haven.

But the rapid growth of the city since 1848, is due to the springing up of a great variety of manufacturing establishments, and several large ones have been moved from other parts of the state to New Haven, that their owners might avail themselves of water carriage to and from New York, where their principal depots of trade are located. Few of our own citizens are even now aware of the extent and magnitude of the manufacturing interests of the city. The fourth and fifth wards take the lead in manufactures, and there is to-day, over seven million dollars invested in different manufacturing branches in these two wards alone. We mean to designate by the term manufactures, the changes or modifications effected by art and industry in the form or substance of material articles, for the purpose of rendering them capable of gratifying some want or desire of man. They are all engaged in effecting some change in the raw material, either by hand or machinery, with a view to the least expenditure of labor, and consequently the least cost to the purchaser or consumer.

The following table exhibits the population of the several Wards, according to the census of 1870, the number of manufacturing establishments in each, and the amount of capital invested therein:

Wards	Population	No. of Man'fg Establishments	Am't Cap. invested
1 .....	8,943 .....	40 .....	$685,700
2 .....	5,413 .....	13 .....	161,350
3 .....	11,112 .....	45 .....	256,470
4 .....	6,333 .....	178 .....	4,006,630
5 .....	8,626 .....	39 .....	3,076,114
6 .....	5,202 .....	20 .....	811,980
7 .....	3,992 .....	29 .....	417,000
8 .....	1,265 .....	10 .....	379,000
TOTALS .....	50,886 .....	374 .....	$9,794,244

It would far exceed our limits to attempt to enter into any details with respect to the different departments of manufacturing industry in the city. It would require all the space we can give to this introductory article, to describe in detail either the establishment of Mallory, Wheeler & Co.; Sargeant & Co.; Lawrence, Bradley & Pardee, or the Winchester Repeating Fire Arms Co. These are among our largest establishments, and even the variety and extent of the work severally done by them would exceed our limits to enumerate. The following articles are among the thousand and one others manufactured in the city: carriages, steam engines, fire arms, repeating fire arms, steam heaters, railroad engines and cars, railroad rolling stock of all descriptions, clocks, rubber goods, malleable iron and malleable iron articles of all kinds, saddlery and saddlery ware, gas, water and sewerage pipes, all kinds of hardware, tools and implements, silver plated ware, brushes, needles, hooks and eyes, fish hooks, locks, bolts, screws, screw capings, nuts, brass cocks and plumbers' material, carriage trimmings, sash and door blinds, chairs, folding chairs, furniture, shirts, corsets, ladies' trimmings, boots and shoes, rubber do., pianos, melodéons, paper, paper boxes, kegs, barrels, machinist tools of all kinds, saws, files, lathes, planers, agricultural implements, carriage wheels, carriage parts, railway frogs, stone crushers, water moters, water hydrants, photograph cases and frames, matches, brass and iron castings of every possible description, and thousands of other articles which it would be needless to mention. In fact, in one establishment alone in the city, employing nearly a thousand hands, over five thousand different articles are manufactured out of brass, iron, and other metals, to say nothing of the vast variety of wood work required to meet the demands of this and other similar establishments working in metal in the city.

There are twenty seven manufacturing establishments in the city, with a capital stock ranging from one hundred thousand to half a million of dollars, and sixty others with a capital stock of from twenty-five to one hundred thousand dollars. Among the more prominent advantages of New Haven, or circumstances conducive to the progress of manufactures among us, are the readiness and cheapness with which the raw material to be manufactured can be obtained, owing to the advantageous situation of our city for the purposes of commerce, whereby a command of supplies can be reached with promptness and by cheap freights, and the ready transportation of manufactured articles to the central depots of trade can be effected. Had we occupied a more central or internal situation in the state, our facilities for dealing with the principal marts of trade would have been by no means as great, and our progress comparatively slow; but being on the great line of thoroughfare leading to the first commercial metropolis of the country, with a navigation that is open at all seasons of the year, in a channel that has not its equal in the world for immunity against storm and shipwreck, we are able to deal at once with the most distant as well as the nearest peoples.

Without a cheap and abundant supply of coal, the engine, as now constructed, would be of but little use. This product of the mines is the muscle by which the gigantic hands of machinery are set in motion, and the vast magazines of hoarded power in the mountains of Pennsylvania and the coal beds of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, literally lie at our doors. The expense of bringing this illimitable supply of power to operate upon our manufacturing industry, is hardly greater than it would be to transport it by rail from Meriden here. The time is not distant when the chief manufacturing industries of New England will be centered along the line of the Sound, between New Haven and New York. It behooves our people, therefore, and especially the young and enterprising portion of them, to see to it that no narrow and short-sighted policy prevails, by which the manufacturing interests of our city shall be curtailed of the advantages at their command. We are singularly favored by nature, and there should be no counteracting agency to neutralize or overcome the more favorable circumstances of our situation. To gain the advantages of priority and acquired skill is now the chief struggle to be made. More depends upon this than most minds are in the habit of thinking. It oftentimes overcomes great natural disadvantages, and prevails where competition would otherwise be ruinous. There is no city in the Union where the inventive genius of our people is excelled, or where machine-making is carried to greater perfection. Our mechanics have skill and dexterity; our capitalists have the advantages of natural situation, as well as the ability to command the highest order of mechanic talent; our beginning is full of promise for the future, and our triumph is assured when capital and skill unite for the preponderance of natural advantages and superior industry, over the acquired benefits of priority at present enjoyed elsewhere.

Yale College.

The noblest monument to the wisdom of the fathers is found in the provision made among us for education. Yale College ranks third in age, and first in the number of undergraduate members, among the multitude of colleges which public policy or private munificence has spread over the country.

The college grounds occupy one-eighteenth part of the original town plot of New Haven, including, quite accidentally, the birth place of Elihu Yale, from whom the College has its name. He was, however, in no sense the founder of the College; that honor belongs to the Congregational clergy of the State, who subsequently recognized the liberality of Gov. Yale by bestowing upon their institution his name. The first college building was of wood, and stood near the corner of Chapel and College streets. The present buildings are seventeen in number, and were erected as follows: South College was begun in 1793; the old Chapel, now the Athenæum, next north, in 1761; South Middle in 1750; the Lyceum and North Middle in 1803;

the Chapel in 1824; the North College in 1822, and Divinity College in 1835. This completes the list of buildings on College street. Those in the rear of the Colleges proper were erected as follows: The old Dining Hall, now the Laboratory, was built in 1782; the new Dining Hall, now used as a Lecture Room below, and for a Mineralogical and Geological Cabinet above, in 1819; the Library in 1842; the Trumbull Gallery in 1831; Alumni Hall in 1852; the Fine Arts Buildings in 1865-66; the new Theological Building in 1868-9; Farnam Hall in 1869-70; Durfee Hall in 1870-1, and the Chapel of the Theological Department in 1871.

The College provides public commons for a part of the students; most of them, however, taking their meals in boarding houses, or with private families. The change in the old custom, which required all students to board in commons, which was made several years since, has proved to be a wise one. Insubordination, coarse habits, and a disposition to find fault with their food, occasioned continual annoyance to the College authorities, and led to the satisfactory experiment of dispensing with a boarding department in the College for all the students.

The new Theological Building is a beautiful and imposing structure, on the corner of College and Elm streets, and opposite the College grounds proper. It is one hundred and sixty-four feet long and four stories high, and was erected at a cost of nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. In conformity with the original plan, a commodious and tasteful Chapel, fronting on Elm street, and connected with the Theological department, is already commenced, and will be pushed forward to completion as rapidly as the nature of the work will admit.

The new College Building on College street bears the name of FARNAM HALL, in honor of Mr. Henry Farnam, of this city, who generously furnished the funds. At right angles with this, on Elm street, another large College building has been constructed of stone, at a cost of more than a hundred thousand dollars. It is the gift to the College of Mr. Durfee, of Fall River, Mass., and appropriately bears the name of DURFEE HALL. Both of these structures are devoted to apartments for students, and greatly increase the accommodations of the College. They are located in accordance with the plan on which the buildings are hereafter to be erected, of inclosing a large hollow square, like the College buildings of the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford, in England.

The Scroll and Key Society has erected a very attractive Society Hall, on the corner of College and Wall streets, and the Psi Upsilon Society has a new building on High street, a few rods to the north of Elm.

The objects in and about the College, which usually attract the attention of strangers, are the following:

TRUMBULL GALLERY.—Col. John Trumbull, a son of the good and wise Governor of Connecticut, was early in life on the staff of General Washington. His military hopes, however, he soon abandoned, to cultivate his taste in art. Soon after the close of the war, he devoted himself to the work of perpetuating, on canvas, the great historical events of the revolutionary struggle. The original paintings from which were prepared those that ornament the rotunda of the National Capitol, were deposited at college by Col. Trumbull in 1832, together with a considerable number of his other paintings. It is greatly to be regretted, however, that the College has no copy of his finest piece, "The Sortie of Gibraltar." A number of paintings by other artists, fill the south room of the Gallery; the north one being devoted exclusively to those by Col. Trumbull. The piece of sculpture, "Jephtha and his Daughter," by Augur, a self-instructed artist; a pen and ink sketch of himself made by Major Andre, the night previous to his execution; and the sword and sash worn by General Wooster at the time he was killed at Ridgefield, will attract the attention of visitors.

YALE SCHOOL OF THE FINE ARTS.—This institution was founded in 1864, through the munificence of our late fellow citizen, Augustus R. Street, Esq., who in that year proposed to the Corporation of Yale College, to erect, at his sole expense, as a gift to the College, an appropriate building for a school of the fine arts. The building was begun in the autumn of 1864, and completed in 1867,—a great ornament to our city, and in every respect commodiously arranged for its purpose. It provides for the collection and exhibition of works of art, such as paintings, sculptures, engravings, and the like; for instruction in the principles and theory of art; and for the domestication, in studios under its roof, of distinguished artists who may be invited to establish themselves there, for the sake of their inspiring influence. The Jarvis collection of paintings has been permanently added to the institution, with many other valuable works of art, and the school promises to be one fully justifying the munificence of its founder.

The organization and conducting of the school was committed by the Corporation of Yale College, at its meeting in the summer of 1865, on Mr. Street's suggestion, to the President of the College, ex officio; with Mr. Daniel Huntington, of New York, President of the National Academy of Design; Professors E. E. Salisbury and Noah Porter, of New Haven, and Mr. Donald G. Mitchell, the well-known "Farmer of Edgewood," as an Art Council, of which one member is to retire each year, by lot, his place to be supplied by some other person chosen by the Corporation, unless he is, as he may be, re-elected. The Council have successfully attended to the duties assigned them, and the school has been inaugurated under the most favorable auspices. Prof. John F. Weir, a gentleman of rare culture and taste, and an artist of high merit, has the principal chair of instruction in the institution, and is devoting his time assiduously to the duties of his position. His introductory lecture on art and art instruction was a production of very superior merit, and fully established the reputation of its author as a devoted and successful student of Art.

It is hoped that our own citizens will be forward to assist in endowing the institution with all needful permanent funds, for chairs of instruction, the purchase of works of art, and the necessary apparatus for art instruction, so that it may yield to themselves and others, in full measure, the benefits which such an establishment is fitted to confer, in the refinement of public taste, the cultivation of a love of true beauty, and that intellectual and moral elevation which naturally associates itself with the study of the fine arts, when properly directed. The founder wished that the institution should be identified with the City where all his home and family attachments were centered; and the interests of citizens of New Haven will, accordingly, be carefully considered in all its arrangements.

GRADUATES' HALL.—The lower story of this building is used for the examinations of the undergraduates and of candidates for admission to College. The College dinners are also given here. The very elegant rooms above, are occupied by the two literary societies, the Linonian and the Brothers in Unity. The portraits on the wall of the Examination Hall, are those of gentlemen connected with the history of the College, either as benefactors or instructors.

THE LIBRARY.—The collection of books in the Library building is about 80,000 volumes. Of late years much attention has been paid by the College authorities to the increase of the library, but the limited funds at their disposal will for many years forbid anything like completeness in almost all its departments. The collection of books in the two wings of the library building, belong to the literary societies of the College.

THE MINERALOGICAL AND GEOLOGICAL CABINET of the College is regarded as one of the finest collections now in existence. At the beginning of this century, all the minerals belonging to the College were taken by the late Prof. Silliman in a small candle box to Philadelphia, to be designated and classified. A few years later the collection was increased by such additions as were gathered personally by Prof. Silliman, in England and Scotland. In 1807 the College purchased, for a thousand dollars, a cabinet of about two thousand specimens, which had been procured in London by Mr. Benjamin D. Perkins. In 1800, a portion of the valuable collection made in Europe by Col. Gibbs, was deposited here for exhibition, and two years later the remainder of his cabinet was added to it. In 1825 the College became the owner of these minerals, at the cost of $25,000, a sum greatly below their intrinsic worth. The minerals procured from Col. Gibbs, were chiefly made up from these private collections,—that purchased in Switzerland, from Count Razamovsky, a Russian gentleman who had devoted many years at Lausanne, to mineralogical pursuits,—that made in France, by M. Gigot d'Osey, one of the farmers-generals under Louis XVI, who spent forty years in its formation, and was finally guillotined,—and that of the Count de Bournon, which consisted mostly of English Minerals, and of gems from the East Indies, the latter of which were derived chiefly from the duplicates of the celebrated Grenville collection, afterwards bought by the British Museum. Very considerable additions have since been made to the Cabinet and the collection is now every way creditable to the College.

THE SHEFFIELD SCIENTIFIC SCHOOL.—The building occupied by the Scientific Department of Yale College, stands at the head of College street, two blocks north of the other College buildings. This department is devoted to practical and scientific education, classical studies being omitted from the course. Instruction is here given with the aid of well-furnished laboratories and ample collections in Chemistry, Mineralogy, Geology, Engineering, and other branches of practical science. A more general course—embracing Mathematical and Natural Science, Literature, Modern Languages, History, and Commercial Law—has recently been established, and meets the demand of the public for a more exclusively practical course of collegiate education. The fine building occupied by the department is a gift of Joseph E. Sheffield, Esq., to Yale College. Several Professorships have been endowed, and the institution liberally supplied with apparatus for instruction. The interior of the building is elegantly finished and painted in fresco.

The rooms of the Engineering section will be found in the main building. The west wing is occupied by the Chemical and Metallurgical laboratories, and the east wing as a Museum of Practical Science. The Museum contains full suites of ores of the most important metals, specimens of the rocks in which they are found, models of furnaces, and samples of fluxes and furnace products,—the whole designed to illustrate the production of metals from their ores. The able corps of instructors in this institution, and the high reputation they sustain, not only in the State but throughout the country and even abroad, have already given the Scientific School a national character which no similar educational institution has attained. All the State scholarships are now promptly taken up, and students are coming from all parts of the country to avail themselves of its superior advantages, and the high order of instruction imparted.

THE MEDICAL COLLEGE is located in York street, on the west side, between Chapel and Crown streets.

THE COLLEGE GYMNASIUM is the large brick building in the rear of the Colleges, on Library street. The arrangements for bowling, and other kinds of exercises, are thought to be very superior.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.—The public Commencement is held on the last Thursday but two of July in each year. The regular examination for admission to College, takes place on Monday and Tuesday preceding Commencement, beginning at 9 o'clock A. M., on Monday, and at 8 o'clock A. M., on Tuesday. Candidates for admission assemble at Graduates' Hall. Those who present themselves for examination at a subsequent period, meet on the

Tuesday and Wednesday preceding the first College term, which begins seven weeks from Commencement day.

Strangers can obtain admittance to the various public buildings of the College, (except the Library and Art Gallery,) at all hours of the day, by applying at the Treasurer's office, in the Trumbull Gallery.

The Library and Art Gallery, are open daily from 10 o'clock in the morning to 1 o'clock; and from 3 to 5, P. M.

WATERING PLACES AND SUMMER RESORTS.

Charles Island.

About twelve miles from New Haven, and at a distance of three-quarters of a mile from the Milford shore, is an Island containing sixteen or eighteen acres of land which possesses more of the natural advantages looked for at a sea side resort, than is usually found on the New England coast. The Milford Indians called the island Poquahaug, and used it, as the whites have since done, as a place for summer recreation. When the Island was first known to the people of Milford, Ansantawae, the Indian Sachem of that town, had a famous wigwam upon it. The Island has borne at different times the names of Milford Island, Charles Island and Alling Island. Its present name is said, by some, to have been the name given by the English to Ansantawae, but by others to have been derived from a certain Charles Deal, to whom the town of Milford gave liberty, in the year 1657, to purchase and enjoy the island for a tobacco plantation, provided he used the buildings for no other purpose than a tobacco house, and that he was not to trade with the Dutch or Indians, or suffer any disorderly resort of seamen or others there. Down to the year 1835, this island was unimproved except for farming purposes. In that year John Harris, Esq., of New York, erected a summer residence upon the island, which subsequently passed into the hands of the late Elizur E. Pritchard, Esq., of Waterbury, whose heirs, we believe, still retain the property.

It was soon afterwards opened as a house of public entertainment, but failed to receive the large patronage to which its position and advantages naturally entitled it, from the difficulty of getting over to it at all stages of the tide. The bar, which connects the island with the shore, is impassable when the water is more than at half tide. To remedy this difficulty, in the summer of 1866, a connection was formed with New Haven and Bridgeport by steamboats, running several times daily, when the House became at once one of the most popular in the country. Under able and energetic management, it ought to become a place of decidedly fashionable resort. The House will accommodate about one hundred guests. The usual contrivances for passing the time pleasantly are found here as at other sea side houses, together with the largest aquarium in the country, and an artificial swimming bath filled from the ocean by a steam engine. A remarkable peculiarity of the Island is its exemption from the annoyance of mosquitoes, flies, insects and vermin generally. No spot at the North presents greater inducements for the introduction of the fashion common at the Virginia Springs and elsewhere, of private parties erecting their own dwellings in which they can unite privacy for their families with the enjoyments of a frequented watering place.

Savin Rock.

This celebrated watering place, so long and favorably known to the wealth and fashion of the country, and immemorially the resort of sea side pleasure seekers in the sweltering months of July and August, has recently passed into new hands. The large and commodious hotel erected there some twelve years ago, or more, by Mr. E. A. Upson, was destroyed by fire the past season, and no effort has been made as yet to replace the buildings. The large and valuable property, embracing something over twenty acres of ground, and most admirably situated for the purposes to which it has been for so many years devoted, has recently been purchased by Gen. Russell of this city, and Mr. George R. Kelsey of West Haven, and it is understood that suitable buildings will soon be erected there, and that they will be occupied in part by the boys of Gen. Russell's school. This arrangement can hardly fail to popularize both the sea side resort and the already popular educational establishment under the supervision of this gentleman. The buildings to be erected will be such as are suited not only to the general curriculum of studies pursued, but the admirable military drill for which the school has been so long famous.

It is to be hoped that these gentlemen will not lose sight of the great natural advantages of this location for a successful popular watering place, and that the "Savin Rock House," may yet become one of the renewed attractions of our city. The location of Gen. Russell's school there during the Summer months, is most desirable for the sanitary advantages it offers, and would furnish an ample campus for military drill and evolution, such as the boys really need under the regime of instruction imparted. It would add largely to the receipts of the West Haven Horse Railroad Company, during the period of sea side attraction and interest, and with a commanding hotel on the high ground, and such adornments as the natural situation of the place suggests, it can hardly fail of becoming again the most popular Summer resort in the vicinity of New Haven. In the Summer season the horse cars run every fifteen minutes to and from the "Rock," starting from the south-east corner of the Green.

Waverly House.

Half a mile below Savin Rock, is the Waverly House and Grove, which is reached by pedestrians in a pleasant ten minute's walk, or a few minute's drive by a road recently constructed over the dyke from the Rock. The House is kept by Mr. Wm. A. Perkins, who provides refreshments of every kind at his hotel. Guests have the use of the bathing houses, the pavilion for dancing, &c. Sailing and fishing parties are accommodated at all times. No place in the vicinity is better provided with conveniences for pleasure parties than Waverly Grove. For the use of the tables, bathing houses, &c., a very small charge is made by the proprietor.

Railroad Grove.

The West Haven Horse Railroad Company are the owners of one of the most delightful and charming groves to be found any where on the line of Long Island Sound. It is situated a short distance north of Savin Rock, and is at present the terminus of the horse railroad. The company have recently purchased a very considerable addition to their former grounds, so that the Grove grounds proper now embrace something over fourteen acres. The trees are a beautiful growth of oak, hickory and chestnut, and are admirably trimmed for the purpose of shade and adornment. A natural turf covers the ground, which is as smooth as if it had been artificially dressed and rolled for use, with the trees thinned out just enough to make the grove at once a perfect pleasure-ground, and the most desirable of leafy shelters. Within the grove are swings, both circular and upright, flying horses, seats and tables without number, two large pavillions with matched flooring for dancing parties, a saloon, water pipes from which the coolest and purest water can be pumped in different parts of the grove, and other accommodations on a liberal scale for the use of visitors patronizing the Company's cars. In the open grounds fronting the grove, and commanding a fine view of the Sound, is

Grove Palace.

This building is also the property of the Railroad Company, and was designed for the accommodation of parties visiting the Grove by rail. It is a large two-story octagon building, sixty feet in diameter, with a wide flight of front steps ascending upon a platform veranda leading to the second floor, or the grand hall of the Palace. This is a large octagonal room, of the same diameter as the building, with music stand in the center, walls handsomely decorated and painted, and capable of accommodating at least thirty cotillion sets upon the floor at the same time. On the lower floor is a room of the same dimensions as the grand hall, designed as a salle à manger for such parties as visit the Grove by cars, the latter providing their own dinner, and the Company furnishing tables and seats without charge. This room, with its tables, will easily seat three hundred persons at a time, and those desiring the use of crockery for the occasion, as well as the use of stoves for cooking, can be accommodated at a mere nominal charge. On this floor is a ladies' dressing room, and all the conveniences appertaining to an establishment of the kind. The railroad management deserves great credit for the extensive arrangements thus made for the almost gratuitous accommodation of the public. The Grove, the Pavillion, the swings, the salle à manger and the entire grounds, are at the service of the patrons of the Company, the only charge being the moderate fare of thirty cents for the round trip, tickets purchased before leaving the city. For pic-nics and family parties there is no place that can surpass for desirableness this grove. Almost adjoining the grounds of the Company is the

Seaview House.

This is now the largest sea-side hotel in the vicinity of New Haven, being one hundred feet front, with handsome verandas facing the water, and capable of accommodating from 75 to 100 guests. It is the property of George R. Kelsey, Esq., of West Haven, and is leased by him to Mr. R. Dyer, a popular and successful caterer to seaside pleasure seekers. This house immediately fronts the most desirable bathing grounds on the beach, and extensive accommodations have been made for those who seek the healthful and invigorating exercise of sea-bathing during the summer months. Bathing houses of the most approved description have been constructed on the beach, and bathing dresses for ladies and gentlemen can be had at very reasonable charges. Permanent summer boarders can be accommodated at the Seaview, as well as temporary and transient, and the intention of the proprietor is to make the charges so reasonable as to prolong the stay rather than hasten the departure of guests. The halls and parlors of the hotel are spacious and handsomely furnished, and Mr. R. M. Dyer, the gentlemanly manager, will serve visitors with every possible attention. The house is rightly named, for it offers as fine a sea view from its ample verandas as can be found at any watering place in the country.

Beach House.

Directly north of the Seaview is the Beach House, which has been recently fitted up for the accommodation of first class boarders and transient guests. Mr. S. H. Payne is the proprietor of this house, and he has manifestly spared no pains to make it a popular resort during the summer months. His house will accommodate from 40 to 50 guests, who will have every advantage of sea bathing enjoyed by those at the Seaview. His rooms are finely furnished; a heavy double veranda extends around three sides of the house; bathing houses occupy the beach in front; a large inclosed front yard is tastefully ornamented with shrubbery and flowers, and a peculiarly home-like air invests the whole establishment. His charges are moderate for the fare and accommodations furnished, and his house is generally well filled during the watering season.

Hinman House.

A few rods to the north of where the cars strike the line of the beach, is the Hinman House, owned by Mr. Preston Hinman, who knows how to serve up sea food after the most approved fashion of epicurean eating. He does not take boarders, but can accommodate from ten to fifteen transient guests, who may desire to avail themselves of the advantages of his tables. He has a neat and tasteful Pavillion on the beach, hedged in by growing shrubbery, where parties can extemporize a dance, enjoy the innocent amusements of the table, drink in the purest of sea breezes, or going to the bathing houses, take an invigorating tumble in the surf that lashes the very steps of this quiet retreat. The view from the large open balcony of the Hinman House, is equally attractive with that from the other hotels on the beach. Mr. Hinman makes a specialty of serving sea food and summer beverages to the delight of all who visit his popular house.

SUMMER RESORTS ON THE EAST SIDE OF THE HARBOR.

Grove House.

The Grove House is in the immediate vicinity of the Light House, and indeed, was built in consequence of the prohibition by the Government of the keepers of Light Houses becoming also keepers of houses of public entertainment. The situation is a delightful one, at the entrance of the harbor. The house is surrounded by a beautiful grove, the fishing is abundant. There is a ten-pin alley for the recreation of the guests, about thirty of whom can be accommodated by the proprietor. His charges are moderate for board. The house usually opens on the first of June. Tables are erected in the woods for the convenience of picnic parties, who visit the place in large numbers, and who are expected to pay nothing for the use of the tables and grounds. The place has ample accommodations for horses.

Leaving the city either by the way of Fair Haven, or Tomlinson's Bridge, a charming drive of five or six miles can be found by skirting the harbor on the road which leads to the Light House. The view from the different hills you pass, commands the entire basin in which the town of New Haven lies, as well as a fine water prospect of the Harbor and Sound. About a mile from the city the highest eminence on the left is Fort Wooster, which was built in 1814 by the spontaneous efforts of citizens of New Haven, aided by large companies of men from the neighboring towns, to repel an anticipated attack from the British fleet which held possession of the Sound. The fort was never garrisoned, and indeed, was only designed for use as earthworks in some temporary emergency. The view from Fort Wooster will amply repay the slight labor of the ascent. A hundred or two yards north of the entrance to the fort, lies the ancient Indian burying ground. Nothing remains to indicate the place, except the slight depressions in the turf which mark the graves of the once powerful Quinnipiacks. Bodies have occasionally been dug up by the curious. They are found buried in a reclining position, facing the rising sun, at the depth of only three or four feet from the surface. Wampum, beads and hatchets, are found to have sometimes been buried with the dead. A mile or more below Fort Wooster, on the water, lies Fort Hale, belonging to the United States. During the war of 1812 it was garrisoned by a few men, but it ceased to be regarded as having any value for military purposes many years before the emergencies of the present civil war called the attention of the government to the necessity of providing adequate protection for the most important seaport of Connecticut. The old Fort has been demolished, and strong earthworks have now been completed.

Two or three graceful villa residences on this road will attract the attention of the stranger. The first belongs to the family of the late William K. Townsend, Esq., and is beautifully situated on the left of the road, about two and a half miles from the city. The other two are at Morris' Cove, below Fort Hale. The first belongs to J. Albert Lum, Esq., and the next is the summer residence of C. Maverick Parker, Esq., of New York. The Morris House, at the Cove, is in the habit of receiving a few visitors in the summer months. Accommodations for a limited number can usually be found in several of the other private houses in the vicinity.

Nettleton's Cove House.

On the eastern shore of New Haven harbor is a gracefully curved beach, of two miles or more in length, known as Morris' Cove. No part of the sea shore between New York and Newport is more open to the sea breezes than this beautiful cove, or possesses superior facilities for bathing or boating. The long stretch of white, sandy beach, immediately in front of and contiguous to the house, protected by the curvature of the shore from all danger from breakers or tidal currents, make the Cove House one of the most desirable summer resorts on the Connecticut coast. The House accommodates about seventy-five guests, and has quite a reputation for the excellence of its table. The proprietor prefers to entertain families for the season, and spares no pains to make the Cove House attractive. His address is George D. Nettleton, Fair Haven. His usual charge to his guests is from twelve to fourteen dollars per week. The Cove House is one of the few places on the coast where bathing can be enjoyed at all stages of the tide.

The Light House.

This spot was selected by Government early in the present century, for the erection of a Light House, greatly needed here, as a guide to mariners. The first building erected in 1804, was a small affair, and gave place, in 1846, to the present edifice, seventy-three feet in height. It is furnished with a stationary light, and the place is also supplied with a fog bell.

The Light House keeper, Mr. Elizur Thompson, is prohibited from keeping a house of public entertainment, but he is obliging enough to part with two or three rooms to visitors, who can provide themselves in other ways with board. It is a retired and pleasant place for two or three small families who need quiet and the benefit of sea air.

South End.

This neck was originally sold for five barrels of pork. It is now the quiet resort for pic-nic parties from city and country. South End can be reached either by passing through East Haven, or by leaving the road to the Light House, where it turns off directly to the water, apparently through a farm yard, and keeping on to the left.

Mr. John P. Thompson, the owner of the grove, can receive into his house twenty or twenty-five persons, who do not expect Fifth Avenue accommodations. The fishing here is superior, rock black fish being in great abundance, and the bathing places on the long, fine beach, excellent and safe. It may be well for pic-nic parties who resort to South End, to know that the use of the grounds, tables, well of water, &c., can hardly compensate the proprietor for his expense and trouble in making it an agreeable resort for pleasure seekers. His charge is $1 for a table, which will accommodate from twenty to twenty-five persons.

The Shore Line Railway, or a carriage road through the center of East Haven, will carry pleasure seekers to several popular sea side houses of entertainment.

Double Beach.

The house at this headland has long been kept by Mrs. Malachi Linsley, and is a pleasant resort for citizens of New Haven. Its distance is only an easy hour's drive,—seven miles from the city,—or it can be reached by rail, the traveller stopping at Branford Depot, from which a carriage will convey him a distance of two miles, to the Beach. From seventy to seventy-five persons can find accommodations at the house. A bowling alley, trotting course, boating, billiards, fishing and bathing, are among the means of recreation provided for its guests.

Branford Point.

Is an agreeable and well kept house. The proprietor, Mr. D. M. King, has room for one hundred and forty guests. All the conveniences for passing the time pleasantly usually found at such places, are furnished at the Point, and the house may safely be recommended to strangers. For several seasons past the proprietor has run an omnibus daily to and from the city.

Indian Neck.

Two large boarding houses on the Sound are also reached from the Branford depot. Indian Neck, two miles from the depot, has accommodations for forty persons. The proprietor is Mr. Lynde Frisbie.

Montowese House.

This is a new house at Indian Neck, about two miles from the Branford depot, and is kept by Mr William Bryan, formerly of this city. It is a first class hotel, complete in all its appointments, and will accommodate about two hundred guests. Indian Neck has long been a favorite resort for seaside visitors, and its reputation is not likely to suffer under the management of so popular a caterer as Mr. Bryan.

Pine Orchard.

Four miles from the depot, is a pleasant boarding house, where Mr. Truman Sheldon receives from forty to fifty guests.

Stony Creek.

This quiet resort, twelve miles from New Haven, is only a quarter of a mile from the Stony Creek depot, on the Shore Line Railway. The fishing here is admirable, and the gigantic oysters and clams taken in the vicinity, have made the name of the place famous among those who are careful about the quality of their shell fish. A pleasant bowling alley and billiard room, a comfortable yacht, &c., are provided for the fifty guests, to whom, during the season, the proprietor, Mr. Wm. Foot devotes his attention.

The Brainerd House,

Is a very pleasant and popular summer resort, and the first public house that is reached from the Stony Creek depot. The house is in complete order, and contains twenty-five large and airy rooms, with fine views in every direction. The outlook, from its double balconies, in the direction of Thimble Islands, is a magnificent one. Mr. J. W. Brainerd, the popular proprietor, and his excellent lady, give every attention to guests, and while his fare is admirable, his charges are exceedingly reasonable. This house has won, under its present management, an enviable reputation among seaside visitors.

The Indian Point House.

This house, which is kept by Mr. Nathan C. Frink, the proprietor, is one of the most beautifully situated places on the sound, the Point being an extended curve into the bay, and commanding a fine view of Thimble Islands and the surrounding scenery. The house will accommodate about fifty guests, who can have excellent bathing advantages, and the best of sailing and row boats for excursions to and among the Islands. The fishing grounds here are numerous, and generally reward those seeking piscatorial sports with ample returns for their toil. Many of the islands of this charming and picturesque groupe, have been occupied by beautiful summer residences, and a public house has been recently erected on "Pot Island" by Mr. Barnes, for the accommodation of visitors, and another on "Money Island," by Mr. Charles Lindsley of this city. The Indian Point House is less than half a mile from the depot at Stony Creek, on the Shore Line Railroad, and about twelve miles from New Haven.

Linden Point Cottage.

This is a small but exceedingly neat cottage-house built by Mr. Barnes, the proprietor of the Point, for the accommodation of seaside pleasure-seekers, and is reached from Indian Point by a foot-bridge constructed across the small inlet separating the two Points. It is usually rented during the summer for the use of one or more families, and makes a delightful seaside residence.

Sawsounck House.

This new House is only a few minutes' walk from the Indian Point House, and is situated on Fine Point, famous in the history of that section for its mammoth oysters. It is reached by a fine carriage road in a three minutes drive from the depot, and from its elevated grounds and shady groves the visitor can enjoy the best of sea breezes, and the most charming of views. The place is named after the celebrated Indian Chief Sawsounck, under whom the famous Montowese held his rule and sway of the tribes found here by the first settlers of Connecticut. It was the great "oyster point" of the Indians, as appears from the depth of oyster shells now underlying the soil, and was visited by them from far and near during the summer months. The House here is kept by Mr. Eben J. Coe, whom everybody knows as "Uncle Eben," and whose tables are supplied with the finest oysters, clams, lobsters and sea fish to be found on the line of the Sound. Mr. Coe also keeps the Springfield House, still nearer the depot, and has rooms for both permanent and transient boarders. His house on the Point commands a splendid view of the Sound and the Thimble Island group. Boats are furnished for fishing and pleasure excursions among the Islands at a reasonable charge. Directly in front of his new house a curious fact is presented for ethnological and antiquarian inquiry, in the discovery of hundreds if not thousands of brick imbedded about three feet deep in the oyster shells which were evidently employed in some sort of structure built there at some period "whereof the memory of man runneth not back to the date." The brick are very hard and of irregular sizes, and instead of mortar, they seem to have been layed in a kind of cement which time has made harder than the brick themselves. There is said to be no tradition in the history of the town accounting for the appearance of these brick, and no clay beds in the vicinity from which they could have been made. It is a matter of curious inquiry and research therefore, to learn how they originated and by whom they were used. The brick are very dark in color as well as hard, and no two of them seem to be cast in the same mould. They differ not only in length, but in width, thickness and color. It is the opinion of the persons finding them, that the deposit of oyster shells covering the brick is due to the Indians, and not to white men.

Guilford Point,

Fifteen miles from New Haven, is a headland on the Sound, two miles east from Sachem's Head. The Guilford depot of the Shore Line Railway, is little more than half a mile distant, where eight trains stop daily—four from New Haven and four from New London. "The Pavilion," is a very quiet, and highly respectable hotel, largely patronized by many families from New York, Hartford, &c., who are in the habit, year after year, of making the Point their summer home. The house is very pleasantly situated on a beautiful lawn, fronting the Sound. It has accommodations for about one hundred guests. The usual conveniences are found here for fishing, bathing, rowing, sailing, bowling, &c. The shell fish taken at the Point are said to be the finest on the Atlantic coast. The proprietor is at all times during the season, prepared to entertain parties from New Haven, or elsewhere, with dinner or supper.

DRIVES AROUND NEW HAVEN.

West Haven.

The vicinity of New Haven abounds in fine drives. Beginning on the west side of the harbor, West Haven is a beautiful village, about three miles from the city, very much like an English village in appearance, with its rural green and venerable trees. It is a place of some historic interest, in connection with the landing here of the British troops, under command of Gens. Tryon and Garth, during the revolutionary war. Early on the morning of July 5th, 1779, two English men-of-war, with forty-eight tenders, transports, &c., entered the harbor. At sunrise, about one-half of their land force, (1,500 men,) under the command of Gen. Garth, landed at Savin Rock beach, the officers making their temporary headquarters at the old Kimberly house, (still standing,) about half way between West Haven village and the place of landing. The troops were mustered on West Haven Green, and commenced their march for New Haven. Soon after the advance, skirmishing occurred between the enemy and our own people. Adjutant Campbell was killed while ascending Milford Hill. The tradition among the old people of the vicinity is, that he was shot by a lad by the name of Johnson, who, taking an old fashioned musket, and creeping among the whortleberry bushes growing on the side of the hill, lay down to observe what was going on. An officer on horseback soon after appeared ascending the hill, in advance of a small squad of men, when the lad shot at him, and saw him fall from his horse. Campbell was carried into the house of the mother of the boy, where he soon after died of his wound. He is buried in a field, still called "Campbell's Lot," about 300 feet north of the road leading to Milford. A low stone, with the name "CAMPBELL, 1779," in the south-west corner of the field, marks his grave.

West Haven is reached by two roads; one the old road through Allingtown, and the other from the City Point road, across the new bridge built in 1861 at the mouth of West River. A very pleasant drive is found by crossing the new bridge, passing the West Haven Green, and down to Savin Rock. The return drive to the city by West Bridge, will carry the stranger past the Catholic Cemetery, the State Hospital, St. John's Church, &c.

Westville.

A longer and more retired drive may be found by passing on the West side of the river, through Allingtown to the Derby road, and so into the city; or, it may be protracted by continuing on the road to Westville, over the high ground which commands a fine view of New Haven, passing the residence of Donald G. Mitchell, Esq., late U. S. Consul to Venice, author of "Reveries of a Bachelor." &c. The village of Westville is picturesquely situated at the foot of West Rock, and is a thriving manufacturing community. As you rise the hill from Westville, passing into the city, the eminence on the left indicates the place where entrenchments, traces of which are still visible, were thrown up by the Americans, to resist the advance of Gen. Garth. A spirited contest here ensued, in which numbers were wounded, and a few killed on each side.

Maltby Park.

In 1861 the Fair Haven Water Company was chartered by the General Assembly of the State. The company was soon after duly organized, and after prospecting for some time for the best source of water supply, they finally purchased the large tract of land, now known as "Maltby Park," and commenced the location of their reservoirs therein, at a distance of about two miles from New Haven, and about four from Fair Haven. It was ascertained that the capacity of the streams lying to the north of the Derby road, with the natural advantages of storing the water flowing in them, and the extensive system of water shed naturally tributary thereto, would furnish an ample supply of pure mountain water for all domestic, mechanical, and fire purposes in Fair Haven, with an average head of about two hundred feet, taking the several reservoirs to be constructed. In developing the resources of these streams, the company soon became satisfied that an abundance of water could be procured, not only for the use of Fair Haven, but the entire city of New Haven, by means of these streams and those available even at a higher elevation on West Rock. They accordingly applied to the Legislature for permission to supply New Haven as well as Fair Haven, and finally, in 1867, obtained the right to lay their pipes in any of the streets of New Haven, on condition that the same should be approved by the legal voters residing therein. The charter of the company, as thus amended, was approved by the vote taken, and the mains of the company have been laid into the western part of the city.

Three large reservoirs, or more properly "Lakes," have been constructed in Maltby Park, containing about four hundred million gallons of water, and the grounds have been laid out into charming and romantic drives, so that it is really one of the most attractive localities in the vicinity of our city. The company has also constructed a large lake, called "Lake Wintergreen," on the north eastern slope of West Rock, covering something over sixty acres, and having an elevation of 240 feet. The capacity of this lake is about four hundred million gallons, and it is estimated that the amount of annual overflow is fully equal to twice the capacity of the lake. With the whole system of reservoirs completed, there will be eight lakes in Maltby Park, with a capacity of about seven hundred million gallons, and four on the West Rock slope with a capacity of over two thousand million gallons of water, and covering altogether, both systems, over four hundred and sixty acres of land. The company are sanguine of their ultimate success, and they have certainly demonstrated that their efforts thus far are anything but utopian.

Hamilton Park.

Was opened to the public by a few public-spirited proprietors, in the year 1859. Previous to that time, New Haven possessed no appropriate place for agricultural fairs, or for other objects needing accommodations for a large concourse of people. The grounds have been handsomely arranged, a fine course for trotting laid out, and convenient buildings for visitors erected. The ground within the course has been excavated for a skating pond in winter, which is filled by a steam pump, from the water of the river which bounds the ground on the west. Arrangements have recently been made, by which the attractions of the place have been largely increased. The ground inclosed for the Park is about forty acres.

West Rock.

Furnishes the most extensive view to be obtained of New Haven and its vicinity. The City Horse Cars run during the day to Westville bridge, from which point visitors will find it a half hour's walk to the summit of the Rock. About half a mile north, is the celebrated

Judge's Cave.

It consists of huge boulders, apparently thrown together by some convulsion of nature. There were formerly three of the larger stones, each rising to a height of fifteen or twenty feet, with openings a few feet wide between their bases. Some years since the center was struck by lightning, which did considerable damage, and greatly altered the appearance of the Rock. More than two hundred years ago, these narrow fissures were the only home of two men, whose names were once memorable in England,—General Edward Whalley, and General William Goffe, both of whose signatures are affixed to the warrant for the execution of King Charles I. These gentlemen had fled at the Restoration, and made their appearance at New Haven in the Spring of 1661. To protect their friends here from the suspicion of harboring rebels, they betook themselves to this wild retreat, where they were supplied with food by Richard Sperry, the nearest inhabitant to the rock. Tradition says, that they were frightened from the place by the appearance in the night of a panther or catamount.

A pleasant half hour's ramble in a northeasterly direction, leads to a mantic spot, called

Wintergreen Falls.

It is one of the most agreeable places for the visit of pleasure parties, that can be found in the vicinity of New Haven. Those who prefer a carriage to the horse cars can approach nearer the Judge's Cave, by following the road at the foot of the Rock, north to the first dwelling on the right hand side, opposite which is the direct ascent to the Cave. The shortest way both to Judge's Cave, or Wintergreen Falls, is through Goffe and Crescent streets. To visit the latter place, those not familiar with its situation, will find it necessary to make inquiries at some of the dwellings near the foot of the Rock.

The Village of Whitneyville

Is a pleasant place for strangers to visit. Its distance is little more than two miles from the city, and can be reached by two or three different roads,—either by the Hamden road, through Broadway, or by Prospect street, through the woods and past the reservoir, or directly by the Hartford turnpike. The pleasantest of these drives, especially in a warm day, is that through the woods, both from its shadiness, and from the fine views both of East and West Rock, to be seen at intervals on the road. The village itself was built up by Eli Whitney, Esq., the distinguished inventor of the cotton-gin. In the year 1798, Mr. Whitney, having obtained a contract from the United States for the manufacture of ten thousand stand of arms, purchased the site of the place, and erected his factory, together with a number of tenements for workmen. Mr. Whitney died in 1825. The factory, greatly enlarged, is now owned by his son, who continues the manufacture of fire arms.

New Haven Water Company.

Mill river, on which the factory is situated, furnishes New Haven with its water. A new and very substantial dam was built in 1861. The dwellings on the sides of the stream above were removed, and the interval between the high lands on each side the river, flooded. The reservoir for the supply of the city, is situated on the elevated land between Prospect street and the old Hartford Turnpike, about a mile from the dam. The pump by which the water is forced into the reservoir has, until within the last year, been driven by the surplus water of Mill river. To provide against the contingency of drouth and avoid the very large consumption of water occasioned by pumping with water power, steam machinery for that purpose has been introduced on a large scale, the purpose being to use it whenever the waste water is not amply sufficient to drive the pumping machinery. With this economy of supply, it is believed that the Company will be able to meet all the wants of consumers, and that no such contingency will again arise as that happening in the unexampled drouth of last season. The Company have made a large increase the last year in the extension of their mains and distribution pipes, and have virtually occupied all the more thickly settled portions of the city. Their water is of excellent quality, and the supply has always been ample, except in a few instances of extreme drouth.

East Rock.

This beautiful eminence is reached by a short ride over Neck Bridge, and by an ascent not difficult for carriages. The city, the harbor, the shipping, Long Island Sound, and in the distance Long Island itself, unite to form a singularly beautiful panorama. A house of entertainment can be found on the brow of the rock, with a bowling alley for those who like the amusement. Parties on foot will find the return to the city over the rock, by the way of Whitneyville, to be a pleasant walk. Parties on horseback, or even in carriages, (though the road is not to be commended for vehicles,) will find a beautiful view of the face of the Rock, by turning to the left after reaching its foot, and following up the stream either to Potter's Bridge, or to Whitneyville. A pleasant ride entirely round the rock, is had by the Whitneyville road, to the covered bridge above the dam and by taking the first road to the right after crossing the stream and then into the city. Those who are fond of a drive by the water, will find a pleasant one over Neck Bridge to Lewis' Bridge, thence down the Quinnipiack to Fair Haven, and across the railroad to the old ferry point.

Fair Haven.

The village of Fair Haven is well worth a visit, by all who are curious to know how the remotest settlements of the far West are supplied with that standing American luxury,—“Fair Haven Oysters.” It can be reached in a brief time, either by the Horse Railroad, or by private carriages. A short walk from the terminus of the railroad, will lead the stranger to the eminence on the East, which overlooks nearly all of the Quinnipiack Valley. The elegant and commodious residences of Chas. Ives, Esq., and Hon. James F. Babcock, occupy the two conspicuous sites on either side of the road. To parties in carriages, desirous of finding a charming rural drive, the road running eastward from these mansions, for two or three miles, then southward to East Haven green, can be commended.

CEMETERIES.

Grove Street Cemetery.

The burial ground on Grove street, contains about eighteen acres. It is said to be the first cemetery in the United States that was laid out into family lots. Some who have deserved well of their country and of the world, lie buried in this inclosure. Many more who have been useful in the discharge of local public trusts, also rest here from their labors. Not an inconsiderable degree of taste has been exhibited in a number of its monuments. The place makes no pretensions to the elegance or the expenditure common to the cemeteries of large metropolitan cities; it is only a handsomely kept, well shaded burial ground, where the eye is not offended with an appearance of things not in harmony with the tenderness and reverence due to the dead.

We believe it has been decided to erect a chapel near the entrance, where, in inclement weather, burial services may be held.

Evergreen Cemetery.

The lots in Grove Street Cemetery having become high in price, and difficult to be obtained, a meeting of citizens was held Sept. 15, 1848, to take into consideration the subject of a new Cemetery. An Association was formed by persons present at that meeting, who resolved that its stock should be divided into three hundred shares at ten dollars each. Directors of the Association were elected Oct. 17th, who purchased from Nathan Peck, Esq., Nov. 20, 1848, a tract of land, fronting on West street about 700 feet and extending westerly about 1690 feet to the border of the West River marshes and embracing an area of about  $13\frac{1}{4}$  acres. In 1856 a further purchase was made from the same proprietor, of 24 additional acres. The grounds are admirably fitted for burial purposes and capable of being made exceedingly beautiful, both from their position on the banks of West River and from their diversified surface. The first burial in the Cemetery was made in the year 1848.

Roman Catholic Cemetery.

The Cemetery in Davenport Avenue for the burial of Roman Catholics was opened in the year 1834. After a few years, the grounds were found wholly inadequate to the largely increased numbers of Catholics in the city, and a purchase of a large and level tract of land on Columbus street near the West River, was made in 1850, and consecrated by the Bishop of the Diocese. Many handsome monuments have already been erected, and the general appearance of the Cemetery is very creditable to those who have it in charge. An elegant monument was erected a few years since in the south part of the grounds to the memory of the first Bishops of the Hartford Diocese Bishop Wm. Tyler, who died in 1849, and Bishop B. O'Rielly, who was lost at sea in the year 1856.

Hebrew Cemetery.

A purchase was made by the Jewish residents of the city several years since, of a piece of ground on the north side of Whalley Avenue, opposite Hamilton Park, containing about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  acres, which has since been used exclusively by them as a place of burial. Adjoining it on the east, and within the city limits, is the burial place of the inhabitants of Westville. Previous to this, the dead of this village were buried with the other inhabitants of the town.

INSTRUCTIONS TO KEY HOLDERS.

1. On the breaking out of a fire, notice should be immediately communicated to the nearest Alarm Box, Keys of which are always in the hands of the Police, and responsible persons in the vicinity of the boxes.

2. Key holders, upon the discovery or positive information of a fire, will unlock the box, pull down the slide or hook once, and let go. This gives the desired alarm all over the city, repeating itself five times.

3. All persons giving fire alarms are requested to remain by the box a moment, and if no clicking is heard in the box, pull again; if you still hear no clicking, go to the next nearest box and give the alarm from that.

4. Never signal for a fire seen at a distance. Never touch the hook except to give an alarm of fire. Be sure the box is locked before leaving it. Give an alarm for no cause other than an actual fire. Do not give an alarm for a chimney.

5. Owners and occupants of buildings are requested to inform themselves of the location of the Signal Boxes near their property, also, the places where the keys are kept. Be sure the alarm is properly given. One single stroke of the City Hall Bell and Engine House Gongs is not given for an alarm of fire.

6. Bell Ringers will see the necessity of being particular to strike the correct number of the box from whence the alarm is given, always to be guided by the City Hall Bell. Second alarms for the same fire will only be given by the Chief Engineer or one of his assistants.

7. Alarms will be sounded on the Fire Bells thus: For box 5, five strokes, 1-1-1-1-1, with short intervals, and repeating. For box 32, three strokes, 1-1-1, a pause, then two strokes, 1-1, a pause, and repeating. Alarms for other numbers are given in a like manner.

8. Ten successive strokes upon the City Hall Bell will be given as a signal for calling out the military.

J. MURRAY FAIRCHILD, Sup't,
Office, 215 Chapel.

Hopkins Grammar School,

Corner High and Wall Streets.

Trustees—Henry White; Theodore D. Woolsey, President of Yale College; Eli Whitney Blake; Thomas A. Thatcher, Professor of Latin in Yale College; Henry C. Kingsley, Treasurer of Yale College; Alexander C. Twining; Simeon E. Baldwin.

The school was established about the year 1660.

Its chief design is to prepare boys and young-men for the Classical and Scientific Departments of Yale College.

For those living in New-Haven and vicinity the best time of entering is at the age of eleven or twelve.

The number of teachers is large. The course of study embraces not only the Latin, Greek and Mathematics required for admission to College, but all the common English branches; and in both of these departments the instruction is most thorough.

The terms and vacations are the same as those of the College.

Further information concerning the school can be gained by calling for catalogues, gratis, at the bookstores of Thomas H. Pease and Judd & White, or by applying to

HENRY N. JOHNSON, M. A., Rector.

Collegiate and Commercial Institute,

Nos. 17 and 19 Wooster Place.

The regular course in the department preparatory to Yale College, occupies three years; but full opportunity is allowed to those who can prepare more rapidly. There are special courses arranged for those who are to enter the Scientific Schools, and for those who are to follow business pursuits. Parents will find, in the instruction given in Military Drilling, Gymnastics, Swimming, etc., and in the ample grounds for out-door games, under careful supervision, just the advantages for physical training and vigor, which boys in cities need. The Boarding Department is designed for pupils who do not reside with near relatives in New Haven, and to secure to them those family advantages, and that paternal care and moral and religious discipline which their age so obviously demands, and without which so many are ruined, physically and morally, while ostensibly pursuing their studies in schools and colleges.

*Leas.

It will be seen that there has been a decrease in only two States—Maine and New Hampshire, and one Territory—New Mexico. The loss in the latter is accounted for by the fact that the Territory has been divided since the Census of 1860 was taken to form new Territories, and the small gain in several of the others is accounted for in the same way. The greatest percentage of gain is in the new State of Nevada, which is explained by the rush to the gold mines in that State during the past few years. The greatest loss is in New Hampshire. The percentage of gain in the District of Columbia is greater than that of any State in the Union, with the exception of the States of Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Nevada.

The population of the large cities of the Union is given as follows:

No.	Cities.	1870.	1860.	Pr. ct.

VERTICAL AND HORIZONTAL CORN MILLS

AND COMBINED

GRINDING & BOLTING MILL.

The object in first making these Mills was to avoid the rough running and expensive gearing, which had always been considered as necessary to drive a Mill with a horizontal shaft. It costs only about two-thirds as much as the geared Mill, and use has proved it to be superior in every respect. It is not only more quiet and light running, but grinds more rapidly, and its simplicity avoids the expensive repairs required in the use of gearing. There is a great difficulty in overcoming the prejudice in favor of the geared Mills and vertical Spindles, but the day is not far distant when they will be looked upon as a thing of the past, for all Millers who have tried the Horizontal Spindle Mill, prefer it to all others.

D. B. CROCKETT'S Composition Paints.

PUT UP IN CASES
OF 12 GALLONS EACH,
In Gallon, Half Gallon and Quarter Gallon Cans.

ALL READY FOR USE.
ALL COLORS.

The materials from which this Paint is made, are of the best imported and American manufacture, and warranted not to contain any adulteration. The above, together with D. B. CROCKETT'S COMPOSITION, makes it the most superior Paint in the market. The composition used has been a study, by Mr. Crockett, for years past. Its compounds being of such a nature as to form a perfect Chemical combination, so thoroughly blended together that no one part can be acted upon separately, by heat or cold, leaving a surface, smooth and bright, that none of the elements will act upon, either before or after it becomes dry, and is warranted not to crack, peel or rub off, by friction or blister, under the most extreme exposures of heat, cold or salt air; and having put it to the most severe tests that Paint could be put under, am now satisfied that it has no equal as to durability, brilliancy, and beauty of finish, as a Paint for either outside or inside work. For inside wood work, or walls, where a fine finish is required, it has no equal, and at the same time it can be washed or cleaned off as smooth as the surface of a mirror, and still retain its brilliancy. As a coating for Iron buildings and all Iron work in general, also, for Tin and all kinds of Metal Roofing, it has been proved to outstand the best material ever offered. This Paint is manufactured by Mr. Crockett, of this city, who has been known as a successful manufacturer of goods in this line of business for the last forty-five years; his factory is situated in the immediate vicinity of New Haven.

Now, if we can show to the public generally, that we can give them a Paint that is superior in every way to that now in general use, for the same money, or less, which we are confident we can do, it must be greatly to their advantage to use Crockett's Paint, and encourage home manufacture. All Colors and kinds can be had, put up neatly in gallon, half gallon, and quart cans, all ready for use. All are invited to call at my office and examine samples of Paints, and Testimonials, &c., from various parties who have used it.

We refer to the following citizens of New Haven and vicinity, by permission.

PATENTS

For Inventions in the United States and Foreign Countries.

A practice of more than seventeen years, and frequent visits to the Patent Office, has given him a familiarity with every department of, and mode of proceeding at the Patent Office which, together with the fact that he now visits Washington semi-monthly to give his personal attention to the interest of his clients, warrants him in the assertion is able to offer the same facilities to Inventors in securing their inventions by Letters Patent, and particularly to those whose applications have been rejected, an examination of which he will make free of charge.

THAT NO OFFICE IN THE COUNTRY

Preliminary examination, prior to application for patent, made at the Patent Office at a small charge.

His facilities for procuring Patents in FOREIGN COUNTRIES are unequalled.

Refers to more than two thousand clients for whom he has procured Letters Patent.

FERRY BROTHERS,
Manufacturers of E. R. FERRY'S
PATENT ELASTIC REACH,
 282 STATE STREET, NEW HAVEN, CONN.

Our Reach is divided near the fifth wheel, and the two ends telescoped together so as to slide, and within this telescope is a spring sufficiently strong to hold the wagon together if both side springs should break. (The patent covers any spring.) The springs are attached to the forward and rear bearers on top, with solid clips; by this means we use only one reach, and we unhesitatingly repeat what hundreds have said, (that have seen a carriage with our Reach,) that it is as neat and stylish as any carriage ever made, and can readily be applied to all vehicles and its cost is small. On taking a seat in the carriage, the springs (of course) yield, and the Reach extends according to the motion of the carriage, or those seated in it. In passing over a sudden rise or crosswalk, the motion is easy and graceful, without slackening your speed in the least.

We invite Carriage builders and all interested in Carriages, to give our Reach a thorough examination.

Send for a Circular.

The Reach furnished to Carriage makers, and dealers in Carriage Parts. Orders solicited.

TESTIMONIALS.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 30, 1870.

Messrs. Ferry Bros Gents.—My travelers are exceedingly well pleased with the carriage with your Patent Reach, and say they would not give one for ten without your Reach, for their own use. I do not think any one trying it will think of buying a carriage without it. I certainly will never buy a carriage of any description without it so long as I can get them.

Yours truly, SAML HALLIWELL,
 Jobber in Teas and manufacturer of Coffee and Spices, 157 State st., New Haven, Conn.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 29, 1870.

Messrs. Ferry Bros. Dear Sirs.—I have been using your Patent Elastic Reach in my buggies for the past thirteen months and am glad to say that as far as I know, they are giving entire satisfaction. I consider it a great improvement, and think it would come into general use when thoroughly introduced.

Yours truly, S. V. INGHAM.

South Egremont, Mass., Sept., 1870.

Messrs. Ferry Bros. We like the wagon we are using with your Patent Elastic Reach very much. Nothing like it for side springs. Shall try and introduce them next season D DALZELL & SONS.

Danbury, Conn., Nov., 1870.

Messrs. Ferry Bros. I have built several carriages with your Patent Elastic Reach within the last few months, and they are giving perfect satisfaction. After the first of Jan. shall build them almost exclusively.

Yours truly, M. JENNING.

New York, Nov. 29, 1870.

Messrs. Ferry Bros. I am using carriages with your Patent Elastic Reach in my Livery, and shall soon discard all others, as I cannot let them when there is a carriage in with your Reach.

Yours truly, T. P. DINSMORE,
 No. 1 West 13th Street, cor. 5th Ave., New York.

Florence Sewing Machines

Have been sold in the State of Connecticut, and still they are being sold at the
NEW OFFICES.

430 Main Street, Hartford, and 343 Chapel Street, New Haven,

And by local agents in the principal towns; also, by eight or ten travelling men throughout the State. The reason that we have met with such universal success is, they are SIMPLE and NOT COMPLICATED, (as our friends who are selling other Machines call them,) run still and very light; are

Warranted to last longer than any other Shuttle Machine in the market, without any duplication of parts: for instance, Plainville Manufacturing Company have run seven FLORENCE MACHINES nearly three years, by steam power, without any duplication of parts, from ten to twelve hours per day. BEAT IT WHO CAN. They have a Reversible Feed running the work to the right and left; Self-Adjusting Tension.

CALL AT THE NEW OFFICES,

430 Main Street, Hartford, and

343 Chapel Street, New Haven.

All Machines in the State of Connecticut are to be kept in good order one year, Free of Charge

Please call and examine the Florence before purchasing elsewhere.
